

Above—Mrs. Ann L. Farrell and Miss Emily, wife and daughter of Lieut. Stephen Farrell, naval balloonist. "Our prayers have been answered," she said when told her husband was safe.

Photo, International.

At Right—Lieut. Stephen Farrell, one of the three naval officers carried to Canada in a blizzard in a navy balloon.

Photo, International.

Above—Lieut. Walter Hinton, U. S. N., pilot of the balloon A-5598, which left Rockaway, L. I., Dec. 13 last, descended near Hudson Bay Dec. 14 and from which word was not received until Jan. 2.

Copyright, Keystone View.

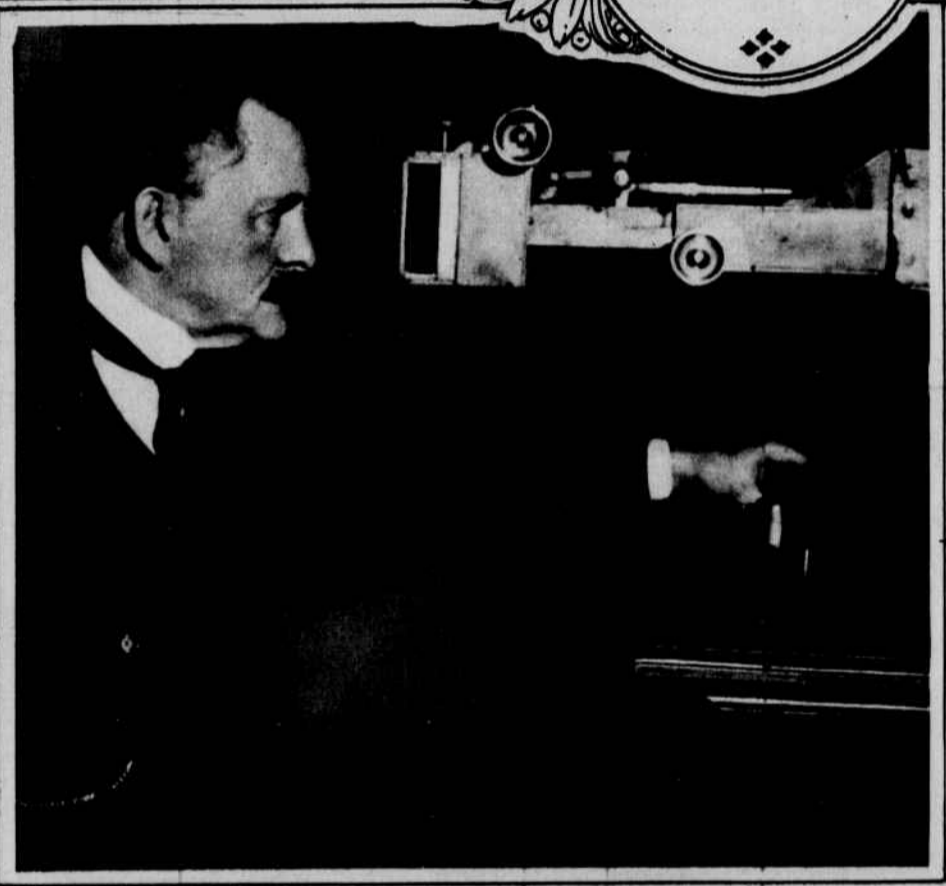

At Right—Prof. Albert A. Michelson of Chicago and his device for measuring the diameters of stars. He is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy, winner of the Nobel prize for physics in 1907 and has been honored by many universities.

Photo, International.

Lieut. L. A. Kloor, one of the naval balloonists lost to the world from Dec. 13 until Jan. 2, in a flight from Rockaway to Canada.

Navy Official.

Mrs. Terence MacSwiney, photographed aboard the Panhandle State just before she sailed for England. The widow of the Lord Mayor of Cork was greeted by thousands while in the United States.

Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

A notable party attended the launching of the Arden at the Harriman, Pa., shipyard, the last of forty-vessels built for the United States. Left to Right—Walter Camp, Jr., Lester H. Monks, Mrs. Monks, Adolph Dick, E. Roland Harriman, Henry Landon, Mrs. E. Roland Harriman, W. T. Smith, Mrs. E. H. Harriman and Mrs. W. T. Smith.

Photo, Brown Bros.